THE GOAL
Either a store gets better every day or it gets worse. A merchant who thinks he can stand still has need to feel the greatest alarm.
We measure our progress by our discontent with what we have already achieved, and if our ideals seem farther off, it only indicates how greatly the horizon has widened.
To lead in every sense is our ambition, and our success thus far only creates a burning desire of for yet harder toll, sterner conflicts and nobler prizes.

NEW INDUSTRY NOW ASSURED FOR CITY

Stock Company Will Be Formed To Manufacture Excelsior and Cedar Shingles

Within a few days there will be organized in this city a stock company to establish in Rhineland a new manufacturing plant the products of which will be excelsior, headings and cedar shingles. The factory, it is stated, will afford employment to about one hundred men and perhaps more than this number as the demand for the output increases.

Many Business Men Interested
Those back of the movement are Matt Stapleton, A. E. Weesner and other men prominent in business circles in this city. It is proposed to hold a meeting for the purpose of organization at a near date. The capital will be fixed at $25,000 and stock will be on the market about the middle of next week. All citizens who are interested in the future welfare and prosperity of the city will be asked to purchase shares and the promoters anticipate no difficulty in securing sufficient subscribers. All stock issued will be transferable with the right reserved to be taken up at any time after two years. Four per cent. will be guaranteed. As yet it has not been decided what will be the price per share.

Will Benefit Farmers.
In the manufacture of its products the company proposes to use chiefly white birch, balsam, and poplar. This timber, for which there has never been a market here, grows in this section in abundance. The company hopes to obtain enough material from the near vicinity of the city to keep the plant in operation for many years. Farmers in the county have large tracts of these woods which they will be able to dispose of to the company for the highest cash price.

One of the promoters says that in time a feed mill and cold storage warehouse will be erected in connection with the factory. This will open a large local market for farm produce and will be the means of boosting the agricultural and dairy resources of the county.

Three Sites in View.
Three sites are in view for the proposed plant. Two of these are on the north side, one the old Conro planing mill grounds and the other a location near the Rhineland Bottling Works buildings. The third site, which is under very favorable consideration, is the Shepard farm on the south side upon which the factory of the Wabash Screen Door Co., formerly stood. This matter of suitable location will be decided upon at the coming meeting.

REWARD FOR BALZAR'S ARREST

One Hundred Dollars Is Offered For Fugitive's Capture.

One hundred dollars reward is offered by Sheriff Jilison for the arrest of Albert Balzar, the Russian Pole, who is wanted for the murder of John Riley, one of his countrymen, at Robbins, nearly one month ago.

Cards containing a new description of Balzar together with the offer of the reward were circulated through the country by Deputy Sheriff Baldwin, Saturday. It is believed that the man is in the city of Chicago or vicinity.

Chief of police of Hammond, Ind., wrote the sheriff that the man known as Balzar who had been located in that city had left before he could be arrested. The letter further stated that he was probably not the man wanted here as it had been learned that he had worked in several Illinois cities and had spent practically all the past fall at Hammond. Albert Balzar, it is known, had been at Robbins several months previous to the murder.

FALLS ON SIDEWALK.

Mrs. Edward Owen, a north side lady, fell on a slippery walk last Thursday night and broke her arm. This accident should serve as a warning to many people who neglect to keep their walks free from ice. A generous sprinkling of salt on the slippery places would help to lessen the danger to pedestrians.

TRIES TO END LIFE.

Arvid Mode Knocks Poison From Would Be Suicide's Hands.

Arvid Mode, proprietor of the Schiltz Hotel, prevented a young Rhinelander from committing suicide, Monday night, by knocking a bottle of beer containing a large quantity of strychnine out of the man's hands.

The fellow, whose action aroused the suspicion of Mr. Mode, ordered a bottle of beer and retiring to a rear room proceeded to draw the cork and empty into the amber liquid the poisonous contents of a small vial. Mr. Mode, who watched the performance through a crack in the door, rushed into the room and hurled the bottle to the floor just as the would be suicide was about to raise it to his lips. The police were notified and the man spent the remainder of the night in the city jail.

When released from his cell, Tuesday morning, the fellow regretted that his plans for self destruction had been frustrated and told Chief Straub that he would yet succeed in doing the deed. He tried to purchase poison at all the drug stores Tuesday but at each place was refused. That noon Chief Straub ordered him to leave the city under penalty of arrest.

SCHOOL BOARDS OF COUNTY IN MEETING

Members Learn Much Regarding Improving of Schools at the Convention, Tuesday

The Oneida County School Board Convention was held at the Court House yesterday. State Inspector Harrison assisted the County Superintendent conduct the work. The members of the school boards who were present showed much interest in learning how to improve Oneida County Schools.

The following school board members were in attendance: Albert Radtke, Wm. Haase, J. M. Scott, John Gardner, Mrs. J. M. Scott, O. A. Gardner, Bert Mercer, C. H. Wade, F. C. Kuehn, O. H. McLaughlin, Jerry Driscoll, A. Schlichting, Robert Luby, Martin Olson, John Sheffer, Kate Sheffer, F. S. Gilmore, John Schultz, H. P. Boynton, John Bernstein, C. W. Swales, Wm. Rovski, Mike Callum, Oliver Goff and C. F. Brodock. The following towns were represented: Cassian, Hazelhurst, Piehl, Schoepke and Woodboro. It is hoped that all towns will be represented next year. The members decided to have the next meeting in August so that their schools may get the full benefit of the same. A few who are finding fault because they do not get their special state aid were absent. Had they been present, they could have learned why? It is hoped that all the board members will be present in August 1910.

JAMES NAGES IN TROUBLE

He Goes to Jail For Buying Booz For Indians

Another arrest for disposing of fire water to Indians was made Wednesday forenoon when United States Marshall Appleby took into custody Jas. Nages of this city, on a commissioner's warrant issued by L. J. Billing.

Nages, it is alleged, has been in the habit of purchasing liquor for red skins who frequently come to this city from the town of Sugar Camp and Lac du Flambeau reservation. It is said that a squaw became heavily intoxicated Tuesday, on alcohol bought for her by Nages; he is also known to have delivered a gallon of alcohol to a young Indian named Louis St. Germaine.

Nages was unable to furnish the required two hundred dollars bonds and will be forced to spend the next five months in the Oneida county jail at Madison, awaiting the action of the federal grand jury. He will be taken to Madison by Marshall Appleby, Saturday night.

Major Morton of Milwaukee will conduct a special meeting in the Salvation Army hall on Tuesday, Jan. 18th, at 8:00 p. m. Everybody welcome. All seats free. Meetings every week.

LOCAL SALOON MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Nineteen Proprietors and Bar Keepers Are Accused of Selling Indians Liquor

Deputy United States Marshall Appleby returned to the city Saturday and that evening served warrants on the Rhinelander saloon proprietors and bar keepers who were recently indicted by the federal grand jury at LaCrosse on the charge of selling liquor to non-allotted Indians.

All Give Bonds
In this city nineteen men were arrested on the charge. They are I. Dufrane, Chas. Nordquist, Noah White, Arthur Riley, M. Paquette, Pat. Cain, M. Kearns, Fred Hes, Chris Hanson, Joseph Skubal, John Wesolowski, T. O'Connell, A. Stacey, Chas. Nicholson, Gust Gustavson, Jas. Coffey, Chas. Anderson, Peter Dufrane, and Fred Papineau.

All appeared before L. J. Billings, United States Court Commissioner, Monday morning, and gave bonds to the amount of two hundred dollars each guaranteeing their appearance in United States District Court. The next session of this court will be held at Superior, but it is probable that the above cases will not be heard until the June term which will be held at Eau Claire.

May Not Fight Cases

It is rumored among the saloon men that the accused ones will not stand trial on the charge but will plead guilty in order to avoid added trouble and expense. To fight the cases means an outlay of considerable money and past experience shows that the number of acquittals on charges of this kind are very small compared with the long list of convictions.

For the first offense the punishment is generally a fine of from seventy-five to one hundred dollars and costs. Old offenders are dealt with more severely and sentences to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth are not uncommon.

Decoys Were Real Indians

Regardless of all reports to the contrary, Marshall Appleby says that the Indians, who were used as decoys by the special agents to trap the liquor men, were not half as quarter breeds with almost white complexions, but full blooded dark skinned young bucks from the reservations at Lac du Flambeau, Odanah and Red Cliff. At each place where possible these non-allotted Indians purchased a bottle of whiskey. The liquor was later turned over to the speakeas agents who pasted on the bottles a label bearing the name of the party who sold the same and the date. The bottles were shipped to LaCrosse where they were considered as evidence by the federal grand jury in returning indictments. They will again be produced as evidence against the accused saloon men when their cases come up in district court.

Nearly four hundred liquor dealers and employees were caught by the agents in northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Arrests in Other Towns.

Those in the nearby towns who are alleged to have sold whiskey to give non-allotted Indians and who have given bonds for their appearance in court are as follows: Mercer, Geo. Richardson, Pat Ryan, Jerry Ryan and John McGinnis; Eagle River, Mrs. Joseph Scheposki, Joseph Scheposki, Dan Schlock, Henry Roth, Thos. McGregor and Chas. Hermann; Woodruff, H. Studeman, Louis Borgovin, J. P. Schlotz, Ed. Rudolph, C. H. Olson, Gus. Anderson, James Bennett, Stanley Stanford, Victor Erickson, Geo. Arterbe, C. H. Hofmeister, Chas. Pauquette, Mat Wilson and Geo. Smith; Minocqua, Burt Bassett, Wm. McCarthy, Wm. Johnston, John H. Boileau, John Kunz.

THREE BIG GAMES

Don't forget the big high school basketball tournament at the Armory tomorrow evening. Three interesting games are scheduled between two girls' teams, two Freshmen teams and two upper class teams. Encourage high school athletics by patronizing these exhibitions. You will be assured of your money's worth.

ADVANCE BASE BALL NEWS

Meeting of Local Fans Will be Held Very Soon

Since the announcement was made last week that the fans of Rhineland are preparing for the base ball season of 1910, other clubs in this part of the state are commencing to get busy toward that end. There will be good teams in all of the larger towns and Rhineland will have no trouble in securing games. The coming season promises to be the liveliest in many years in local base ball circles.

A meeting of the fans will be held soon for the purpose of organizing the team for the coming season. Manager Beillev believes in forming the team at an early date so that no time will be lost in the spring when the boys are given their try-outs. Every day letters come pouring in to the management from players who want positions on the team and several of these applicants will be given consideration. The exact date of the meeting will be announced next week.

The name of the Rhineland base ball team has been changed from the Colts to the Brewers. Each member of the nine will be fitted with a new uniform bearing the initials "R. B."

Geo. Roller gladdens the hearts of Rhineland base ball enthusiasts by stating that he will not sign with the Wisconsin - Minnesota league as umpire.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO CORNER BEER MARKET

Wixson Now Organizing a Company to Buy That Brewery--What Next Will He Be After?

C. A. Wixson, of this city, who has already secured a claim on a portion of the water which flows down the Wisconsin River, now directs his attention to that famous old beverage, beer, on which he and a few of his friends hope to secure a monopoly in Rhineland. Much Secrecy Maintained.

Mr. Wixson has been granted an option on the plant of the Rhineland Brewing Company, a concern of which O. A. Hilsenman is at the head. In company with his partner, E. A. Forbes, Mr. Wixson has set about to organize a stock company of local parties for the purpose of taking over the plant and hereafter conducting the business. The option, it is understood, is for $50,000 and stock sells at $100 per share. Much secrecy is maintained by the promoters in getting stockholders and the names of those who have subscribed for shares are only whispered in a tone so low that not even the newspaper men are able to comprehend. The list is kept concealed in the inside pocket of Mr. Wixson's heavy fur coat and seldom brought before the gaze of the public.

What Some People Think.

It is believed among many liberal minded people that this is a move to help defeat the "no license" question when it comes before the voters in the spring. With the brewery in the hands of several citizens it is thought that they will carry more influence in keeping the city "wet" than would the present owner. The hint is even given out that the company is being organized on paper only and no coin of the realm really changes hands. Perhaps the ones who will realize a nice little sum out of the project will be Messrs. Wixson and Forbes, who will no doubt be well rewarded for their services in promoting the scheme.

P. T. Barnum once said that the public liked to be humbugged but it remains to be seen if the voters of Rhineland comprise this class of citizens. Perhaps the majority will vote to keep the city on the "wet" list but some may vote "dry" regardless of the fact that they have good friends who are stock holders in the only beer factory in town.

SURPLUS IS $744.00

A strange condition exists. After a careful checking of county treasurer Krueger's office it is found that he has a surplus of $744. Already the money is claimed by a concern of the city as an over payment. Mr. Krueger will hold the money until he is certain that no claim can be made against him for it.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

The Quest of Quesnay.

Henry Turish returned Friday to Duluth.

A. J. Klock spent Sunday at his home at Antigo.

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Hirtzel of Eagle River were in the city yesterday.

The Wesleyan Society of the M. E. Church meets tomorrow evening with Miss Helen Alban.

Flint Stone arrived home Saturday from Antigo. He has resigned his position in a meat market there.

Mrs. Wm. Kelly returned Friday from an extended visit at Milwaukee and her home at Eau Claire.

Mrs. C. A. Wixson, Morris McRae and T. L. LaDoux were hostesses at a five o'clock tea at the Wixson home Monday. Today they gave a one o'clock luncheon.

Wm. Nitke, who has been very low with typhoid fever at the hospital in this city, is gaining slowly. This is gratifying news to the young man's friends.

The Quest of Quesnay.

W. D. Clime, a new salesman recently engaged by the Valvoline Oil Company, may become local representative for the company in this city. Through its traveling man, Roy Sewell, the concern has worked up a splendid business here.

It is learned that Mr. and Mrs. Snow, who for the last two years have been living at White River, near Ashland, are soon to return to Rhinelander. Mr. Snow is in charge of the plant of the White River Power Company.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. It invigorates the entire system and strengthens the kidneys so they eliminate the impurities from the blood. Backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles are all cured by this great medicine.

The Quest of Quesnay.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bibby have returned from Oshkosh where they spent several days at the bedside of Mr. Bibby's aged mother who is dangerously ill. She is afflicted with paralysis and on account of her advanced years her recovery is not looked for.

Sam Burnett and Geo. Deakin went to Oshkosh yesterday to take the examination held by the state bar board. Both young men have been apprentices at the trade in this city for the last two years and now hope to pass the examination and return home as full fledged lawyers.

Florists all over the country are making provisions for the demand for carnations on Jan. 29, "Carnation day," the birthday anniversary of the late President McKinley. The day was established in 1903, and on each succeeding anniversary the accomplishments of the dead president have been recalled by wearing his favorite flower. For any floral decoration carnations are generally used on that day.

The Quest of Quesnay.

It is a dangerous thing to take a cough medicine containing opiates that merely stifle your cough instead of curing it. Foley's Honey and Tar loosens and cures the cough and expels the poisonous germs, thus preventing pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes and take only the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package.

J. J. Reardon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryant returned Monday from Chicago where they visited their daughter, Mabel, who is preparing for a trained nurse at Cook County Hospital. The young lady has been at the hospital about three weeks and has already become deeply interested in her work.

Lawrence Eagan, father of Lawrence and John Eagan of this city, died a few days ago at his home at New London. Mr. Eagan was over eighty years old and a pioneer resident of Waupaca county. Death was due to asthma combined with infirmities of old age.

Hon. John Barnes returned Friday to Madison.

INDIAN FREEZES TO DEATH

The crew of the north bound Northwestern limited picked up the body of Antoine Sallor, an Indian, near Appleton, Saturday morning. The man had frozen to death presumably while under the influence of liquor. Lying near the body was Lizzie Parey, a squaw, who was slowly succumbing to the cold. It was at first thought that she too was dead, but upon being carried aboard the train she soon revived and will recover.

Both Sallor and the woman are residents of the Ojibwa reservation.

Isabelle, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kelly of the town of Crescent, died Sunday after a brief illness with diphtheritic laryngitis. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Dejung, Tuesday.

Rheumatism

"My mother is a great sufferer from rheumatism, and Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills is the only remedy that relieves her."

MRS. G. DAVENPORT,

Roycefield, N. J.

For the pains of rheumatism there is nothing that can equal

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

They overcome that nervous irritation, relieve the pain and swelling, while they have a tendency to allay fever. If taken as directed they are invaluable to chronic sufferers, as the weakening effect of pain is lessened. Try them—your druggist sells them.

The first package will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

BODY NOT CLAIMED

The remains of Victor Myrren who died with typhoid pneumonia at St. Mary's hospital last Wednesday, were buried Friday by the county.

Myrren was twenty-two years of age and was brought to the hospital from Tripoli. The day previous to his death, two men claiming to be his brothers, called to see him. After Myrren died, these men were notified by the sisters, but no response was received from them. As no one appeared to take charge of the body it fell upon the county to bear the expense of burial.

The attitude of the brothers in refusing to even acknowledge the announcement of the young man's death is regarded as strange by the authorities.

RESORT AT MOOSE LAKE.

A party of sportsmen have perfected a company for the purpose of building a large summer resort on the shores of Moose Lake, a pretty body of water near Lac du Flambeau. The organization is composed mostly of Wausau and Milwaukee men.

Moose Lake is in the heart of a rich fish and game country and is frequently visited by Rhinelander people.

Work on the erection of buildings will be commenced at once and it is expected that the resort will be ready for visitors about May 1. A road will be cut through the forest from the railway station to the resort, a distance of four miles. It will be arranged to have the Northwestern trains stop on signal and conveyances for guests will always be on hand.

INSTALL OFFICERS

The officers of Rhinelander Aerle 259 for the present year are:

M. J. Slattery, W. P. Chas. Keep, W. V. P. Jacob Christ, W. C. J. C. Teal, Sec. Hans Anderson, Treas. Henry Russell, Conductor. Chas. Mangerson, I. G. A. Fayette, G. G. J. M. Baker, Nels Olson and A. Schauder, trustees.

A NEW DRAY LINE

Rhinelander has another dray line. H. E. Knapp of the east side has engaged in the business and his conveyance can hereafter be found at any time of the day on the down town streets. With prompt attention to all work he hopes to secure his share of the patronage.

Rev. I. W. Williams Testifies

Rev. I. W. Williams, Huntington, W. Va., writes us as follows: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble and am free to say that Foley's Kidney Remedy will do all that you claim for it."

J. J. Reardon.

There now is every prospect that a special legislative session will be called by Gov. Davidson. A peculiar error on the part of some several score of assemblymen and senators, lobbyists and lawyers, has been detected. It has to do with the governor's constitutional right which of course, takes precedence over any act of the legislature. This constitutional right of the state's chief executive permits him to call a special session at his will. It does not require him to give sixty days' notice.

The little joke in the New North of last week was not intended to hit all the County Board members only those who are there to work their schemes and are tardy at other times.

Uncle Ike's newspaper is authority for the statement that Chairman E. A. Edmonds will neither be a candidate at the primaries for Governor nor U. S. Senator. The same article also announces the candidacy of James Davidson for Governor for a fourth term and S. A. Cook will again open his barrel at the primary for U. S. Senator against Senator La Follette.

SHOULD BE DONE HERE

Principal Paul G. W. Keller of the Appleton High school backed by the members of the board of education has issued an ultimatum to the students that they must stop smoking or quit school.

It would not be a bad idea to serve the Rhinelander High school boys with such a notice. We observe that many of them are becoming addicted to the cigarette habit and vigorous means should be taken to check the evil before it ruins both their physical and mental health.

REMOVAL OF PINCHOT.

President Taft peremptorily removed Forester Pinchot and two of his subordinates from service last week because Mr. Pinchot wrote a plain letter to Senator Dolliver putting forth the facts in the forestry controversy between himself and Secretary Ballinger.

Forester Pinchot did not deny that his subordinates had attacked Secretary Ballinger. He said it was a case in which desperate measures must be used to save the resources of the United States from the greed of the Corporations. All people interested in the conservation of the National Resources mourn the removal of the Chief Forester. However, many papers wholly in sympathy with Mr. Pinchot's cause feel that the President had nothing else to do except to remove him to retain the dignity of his office; others think that it would have been better for the President to delay the matter until after the investigation of the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy by Congress.

WATSON SCORES TAFT.

President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin says that the United States has lost in the removal of Forester Pinchot from office one of the most valuable men of the age and that his name will go down in history as one of the greatest benefactors of the American people.

In an editorial in the Louisville Courier-Journal, Mr. Watson writes as follows on President Taft's removal of Chief Forester Pinchot:

For the first time in the history of the country a president of the United States has openly proclaimed himself the friend of thieves and the enemy of honest men. That, and that alone, is the issue precipitated by the executive order of Friday removing Gifford Pinchot from office.

"Many Republican presidents have by indirection through the protective policy proclaimed themselves the friends of robbery under the forms of law; Mr. Taft becomes the first to depart from the process of licensed robbery, and to announce that the debts of his party are in future to be paid out of the people's domain."

"It is not worth while for anybody to beat about the bush or to deal in anything but plain English. The truth will not down. That the president is personally an honest, well intentioned man need not be denied or doubted. The world is full of men who can see no wrong where their own interest is at stake, who are blind to right when their passions are awakened, who will do for party what they would refuse to God. The candidate of straw upon a platform of imposture, inducted to office, sees his house of cards about to tumble on him and his cabinet because of the act of an upright but imprudent servant, and in a panic of anger and fear thinks to avert the threatened catastrophe by driving the upright servant out."

CANNON IS SLIPPING.

The defeat administered to Speaker

Cannon in the House last Friday proved conclusively that the days of the Czar are numbered. He may continue to represent his district in Congress but he can never again be elected Speaker and no one knows this better than Cannon himself. It should be particularly humiliating to the Speaker because the vote indicated a lack of confidence in his fairness as a presiding officer. However he brought it on himself as he proved to all impartial judges that he is not capable of being fair to all the people by his removal of Congressman Cooper from the chairmanship of the Committee on Insular Affairs, a position which he had held since the committee was created some ten years ago. The bargain between Cannon and the stalwart democrats was shown by the support given the former by Representative Fitzgerald of New York, a Democrat who was appointed on the important committee on rules by Cannon recently. Fitzgerald supported Cannon in spite of the fact that all the rest of his party voted against him. The insurgent Republicans claim that they have many other promises of support from other Republicans in the House and if this is true they ought to be able to make it interesting for the stand-patters in the present session. We predict that after the next general election that there will be many more insurgents in the House. Certainly there is no chance of defeating any of the Congressmen from this state who have voted for the progressive policies. The people are becoming alive to the issues involved and will suitably reward those public servants who have looked out for the people's interests.

TAFT AND THE INSURGENTS.

It is to be hoped that the report that President Taft had decided to withhold all patronage from the insurgents in Congress is not true. It would certainly tend to convince those of us who are yet waiting to see whether the President will make good, that he was utterly unfit to occupy the place he was elected to fill. We do not believe that the President has adopted or will adopt those tactics. But if the report is true and the federal patronage is given to those who support the organization we look for a material strengthening and increase of the insurgent movement. Perhaps it is not generally understood by many that those of the Middle West who are insurgents are such because of conditions that demand a remedy and not because of some hope that they may fatten at the public crib. Senator La Follette won his most notable victories when he had no favors to give and would have continued to win them without the patronage. We support the progressive movement because it stands for correct public principles and we shall continue, like all the other true progressives, to stand for those principles, without any further hope of reward than the consciousness of our duty to the public well done. President Taft cannot do any one thing which will so solidify the progressive movement than to adopt such a policy as the one mentioned and we still have faith that he is too able and fair minded to do so, but if he does—watch the results!!

Governor Deneen of Illinois has appointed as State Fire Marshal, a man who has had experience in the insurance business and who is a capable lawyer and who has been attorney for the Illinois insurance department for some time. It is to be regretted that Gov. Davidson could not have used the same judgment and appointed a man with some qualifications for the same office in this state. Instead he appoints a man who has only the qualification of being willing to use the facilities of his office for the benefit of "the bunch". The Companies pay the expenses but all who carry insurance pay for it in their premiums, and the Governor ought to insist that State Fire Marshal Purtell limit his activities to the work for which he is paid by the state.

Why should Senator Stephenson, E. A. Edmonds and others of "The Bunch" have to go to Chicago to plan for the defeat of La Follette? Are they afraid of the people of Wisconsin?

We wonder if Richard Achilles Ballinger is as willing as he was some few days ago for the Congressional investigation of the affairs of his office, now the House is to select its own committee.

WARNING TO TEAMSTERS

On complaint of Seth Kimball, the Humane Society officer, Geo. Clark was arrested Saturday on the charge of neglecting to properly blanket and care for his horse. In municipal court Mr. Clark was fined five dollars and costs.

Some teamsters who do not mean to be cruel, through carelessness, fail to provide their horses with sufficient covering to maintain warmth. For hours at a time the faithful animals remain shivering in the cold. Mr. Kimball intends to investigate every case of this kind brought to his attention and will not hesitate to prosecute no matter who the party may be.

REV. WEDGE IS BETTER

Will Soon be Able to Leave Hospital at Chicago

Rev. F. R. Wedge, who since leaving Rhinelander a number of weeks ago, has been a patient at the Presbyterian Hospital at Chicago, is recovering and will be able to return to Omaha within a few days.

Rev. Wedge's illness was brought on by nervous trouble due to overwork and the strain of his vigorous campaign while in this city. He was completely worn out and needed rest and quiet. It was at one time reported here that he was in a dangerous condition, but reports received from the hospital gave no cause for alarm.

The Rev. gentleman hopes that his health will continue to improve so as to enable him to return to Rhinelander and work for the "no license" issue. Many of the conservative thinking people of the city express the opinion that he will succeed in carrying the "dry" vote.

BLACK RIVER FALLS WINS.

The $1,000 prize offered by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association to the city having less than 2,000 population, which sold the largest number—39,000—Christmas stamps in proportion to population, from Nov. 29 to Dec. 31, goes to Black River Falls. Burlington wins the $1,000 per capita prize in cities of 2,000 and over, not including Milwaukee.

The prizes are complete Aero vacuum cleaning systems, to be installed in the principal school in the winning city. The contest for a third $1,000 Aero vacuum system, in which the schools of Milwaukee were participants, has not been settled. The decision now rests between Eighteenth District No. 1 and First District schools.

TRAIN LEAVES TRACK.

While pounding along at a good rate of speed number 17, the north bound Northwestern passenger train, left the rails near Kempster, Tuesday afternoon. The train was rounded a curve when the accident occurred. After jumping the track the engine and cars dragged over the road bed for several yards. No one was injured although some of the passengers were badly shaken.

The train did not arrive here until nearly six o'clock.

Dorothy Dodd

BEAUTIFUL SHOES

$3.00—$3.50—$4.00

YOU are invited to inspect our display of the new Shoe Fashions. Particularly do we direct attention to the new "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes. Not only will they appeal to your artistic sense, but the very stamp on the sole is our double assurance that the quality is honest through and through. And think what this means when, because of the high cost of leather, so many shoes have been deliberately cheapened to deceive you into the belief that you are getting former values at old prices!

Against this deception the very prestige of the "Dorothy Dodd" trademark is your protection. Its makers cannot afford to lower the standard by which it has achieved the most phenomenal shoe success ever known. If you would have prettier and more stylish feet, let us fit you with a pair of these new "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes. They come in all styles and leathers, and for all services.

A good pair of hose will be given free with each pair of shoes purchased at this store this month.

ONLY FEW MEMBERS ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Stockholders Display But Little Interest in Annual Building and Loan Meeting.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Building and Loan Association was a fair illustration of the fact that people neglect their own interests. About one sixth of the stock was represented, 335 shares of 2100 shares.

The policy of the society was changed instead of confining the salary to the secretary all officers are now paid. The president, treasurer and loan committee of three each get five dollars a month and the other three directors each two dollars making a total salary expense aside from the secretary of thirty three dollars per month. There is little doubt but what the salaries are small in comparison with services rendered but will this step not be a beginning of a new policy which finally will largely reduce the net earnings of the corporation? There seems to be a tendency of small concerns which start with a small expense account to increase the running expenses until the earnings are eaten up.

The Rhinelander Building and Loan Association has been a splendid thing for the common people and we would dislike to have anything interfere with its benefits. The stockholders should be present at the next meeting and decide for themselves the policy they wish pursued.

The following directors were elected: A. D. Sutton, James Baker and J. H. Morgan for three years and H. E. Braeger for two years and Arthur Taylor, Mrs. Shelton, L. A. Leadbetter, C. A. Wilson and A. E. Weesner hold over.

The officers are Arthur Taylor, President, J. H. Morgan, Vice President, Mrs. A. W. Shelton, Secretary, L. A. Leadbetter, Treasurer. Loan Committee, A. D. Sutton, A. E. Weesner and James Baker.

A fine pair of hose will be given free with each pair of shoes purchased at Kolden's store this month.

TRAVELING MEN RETURNING

Now that the holiday season is at an end transient business at the Rhinelander hotels is again rather brisk. The traveling men who make this territory are once more on the road after spending Christmas and New Year's weeks with their families.

As he registered at the Fuller the other day one salesman had heard to remark, "My but it is tough to be out in this wild country again, huddled in a stuffy passenger coach for hours at a time while a crippled old engine is trying to push through banks of snow and seemingly making no progress. I guess two weeks in my own comfortable home with my feet cocked up before my own fire side has kind of spoiled me and I haven't got the heart to go out and call on customers."

INJURED WHILE SKATING

Rex Reed, who is employed at Krellow's pharmacy, was the victim of a painful accident at the skating rink Sunday afternoon. While playing cross tag he fell on the ice and went several feet on his face. He loosened all the teeth on his right jaw and suffered a cut above the eye which required four stitches to close. In appearance he now resembles "Happy Hooligan" or some other much abused character in the comic supplement. His friends, while sympathetic, find it impossible to refrain from laughing at him, but Rex, who says that he is always getting the worst of it, falls to see the joke.

ADDS A NEW STOCK

In connection with his large stock of shoes, Chas. Fredrickson has added a small line of gents' furnishing goods. Fine handkerchiefs, neckwear and fancy hosiery will hereafter be on sale at the store. If the new department proves a paying one a larger stock will be purchased.

Several improvements have been made at the City Shoe Store during the last few weeks and the store is now one of the neatest in the city. Leroy Lockwood is in charge as manager and by courteous treatment to all is making many new patrons.

NOTHING TO DO; QUILTS OFFICE.

Justice of Peace Resigns, Local Option Killed His Job.

Hillsdale, Mich., Jan. 3.—The following letter of Justice J. L. Friesbie, who was a captain in the civil war and a consul to Nice, France, is self-explanatory:

"To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Hillsdale, Gentlemen: I hereby most respectfully tender the resignation of my commission as a justice of the peace of the City of Hillsdale, to take effect March 1, 1910. Cause: County prohibition (local option) no drunks, no vagrants, no disorderly lies, no business to further make the office desirable or in any way profitable. Really, there is no use for more than one justice of the peace in the City of Hillsdale under present conditions.

"With kindest salutations to all our good citizenship, I am, very sincerely yours,

"John L. Friesbie."

Black River Falls, Wis., has suddenly leaped into international fame in anti-tuberculosis work by its remarkable showing in the Christmas stamp campaign conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

This little city of 1,917 population (census of 1905) sold 98,000 Christmas stamps at one cent each, or 50 77-100 stamps for each inhabitant, winning the $1,000 Aero vacuum cleaning system offered by the association to the city of less than 2,000 population selling the most stamps per capita. This is undoubtedly the best showing made by any city in the world that engaged in the sale of Christmas stamps.

BETZVILLE TALES

Col. Gabe Dunder and the Shredded Codfish

By Ellis Parker Butler
Author of "Pigs is Pigs" Etc.
ILLUSTRATED BY PETER NEWELL

All Hands Set to Work Feverishly to Eat the Pile of Swelled Boneless Codfish.

Colonel Gabe Dunder, who was at one time one of Betzville's most respected citizens, has come back home, and a reception was given him at Aunt Rhinocolora Betz' house last Friday. Those who keep track of social events in our burg will remember that the reason Colonel Dunder went away was because he had trouble with Sim Phillips over a load of shavings. When Boyer's one ring circus played in Betzville two years ago Colonel Dunder, who is one of the most enterprising men of our town, took the contract to supply shavings for the ring and had three wagon loads hauled over from Jefferson; but the circus men claimed they had ordered only two loads and for awhile it looked as if the colonel would have to stand the loss. But he always had a bright mind and after thinking it over he went to Sim Phillips, who owned a bay mare at that time and who is one of our most economical horse feeders, and sold the load of shavings to Sim Phillips to feed to the bay mare. He explained to Sim that if he tied a pair of green goggles over the bay mare's eyes the bay mare would see green and think the shavings were fresh grass and simply gobble them down with joy. But, somehow, the bay mare didn't care for shavings and as the colonel had the money and Sim had a shotgun Colonel Gabe Dunder went away for awhile. He was greatly missed in our elite society, but now he is home again.

The repast served by Aunt Rhinocolora was delicious in the extreme, starting off with radishes, with boiled codfish as the backbone, and winding up with ice cream, and nothing occurred to mar the occasion except the codfish, at sight of which Colonel Dunder burst into tears. It was a pitiful sight to see a strong man, with a long, reddish beard, weaken in this way.

As soon as Colonel Dunder could recover his self-control he begged everyone's pardon, but explained that the sight of codfish always made him burst into tears, while a homesick feeling settled with an empty sensation in the pit of his stomach. When asked to explain, he arose gracefully, merely upsetting a glass of water, pulled his vest down in front, tucked the back of his necktie under the collar band and told the following sad story:

When force of circumstances and the shotgun caused the colonel to leave Betzville hastily, he looked about for some opportunity to invest his savings, and he saw an opportunity in shredded boneless codfish. He said he saw that the codfish trade in California had been sadly neglected and that it offered an opportunity, and he went to St. Louis and bought all he could and had it done up in bales and strapped the bales on the backs of pack mules and started for California, accompanied by four faithful men.

All went well until Death Valley was reached, but before they had journeyed into the valley a day's journey he saw that there was no forage there for the mules. At night a halt was made and a consultation held, while the poor hungry mules looked on with sad eyes. There was but one thing to do. The mules would not eat shredded codfish. There was nothing for them to eat but the corn-bush mattresses that had been brought along to sleep on, so these were fed to the patient mules and the bales of shredded boneless codfish were piled in a pile and the five men retired to rest on top of them. The colonel said that he found shredded boneless codfish did not make a bad bed. It was soft and resilient.

But as he lay under the desert sky he happened to think of Betzville and all his kind friends there and he began to shed tears of homesickness and when he told his four faithful men why he wept they too became homesick and began to weep. Their tears fell and mingled with the dried shredded codfish, but they thought no harm, until, suddenly, one of the men happened to look down, and gave a cry of horrid fear. And no wonder! The tears had swelled the boneless codfish and it had expanded and expanded until it seemed to fill the whole landscape. No matter which way they looked the scenery was all codfish, and it was still swelling. The colonel's first order was to stop shedding tears, which was obeyed, and the second was to run. He knew that unless they reached the edge of the pile of swelled codfish soon it would have swelled to such a height that death alone could result from an attempt to reach the earth down its precipitous sides.

So all ran with all their speed. They ran for three days before they reached the edge and then stepped back appalled! Two thousand feet below them they saw the plain. To attempt to descend meant death!

There was but one thing to do. All hands set to work feverishly to eat the pile of swelled boneless codfish, and for three days not a word was said, so hurriedly did the five men cram themselves with codfish. That night they lay down exhausted. Their beings had rebelled—not another shred of codfish could they eat. There was nothing left but to lie down and die or to throw themselves off the edge of the mountain of codfish and perish.

When the colonel opened his eyes the next morning he gasped. He was saved! In the labor of eating codfish all had forgotten to weep and the tears had gradually dried out of the codfish and the codfish had slowly shrunk back to normal size. The only damage done was that the codfish was a little saltier than before.

Uncle Ashdod Clute stated before all present that in his opinion this was one of the most remarkable rescues from death he had ever heard of and that we should all consider it a blessing that the codfish was boneless, for if there had been a bone in it and the bone had swelled as the codfish had swelled, Colonel Gabe Dunder might have been impaled while he slept and Betzville would never have seen him again.

Notes from the Basswood Bugle. Our school teacher is just cuttin' a wisdom tooth. By jing! nobody is more entitled to one than she is.

Hod Peters' youngest swallered the coalstove shaker the other day, and Hod says he ought to grow up to be quite an athlete, as he has so much iron in his system.

A mail sack which was thrown off from No. 6 the other night knocked down Amariah Tilson's barber pole, three blocks up the street, and upset Grandma Whipple, who was on her way home from the sewin' circle. ATTRACTIONS FOR FAIR

Allie T. Wooster of Portage was in the city Monday talking to some of the Oneida county fair officials in regard to bringing his two attractions, the girls' relay race and Roman chariot race, to the fair in this city next fall. Both of these races have been featured at fairs and exhibitions in all parts of the United States by Mr. Wooster during the last three years and have delighted thousands of people. These attractions would prove a strong drawing card at the fair.

Mr. Wooster will be remembered by Rhinelanders people as the owner of "Little McNutt," the lone pacer that appeared at the Oneida county fair some years ago.

LOWER EXPRESS RATES

A legal battle for lower express rates and better service between Milwaukee and Wisconsin points was started by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Milwaukee, when it filed with the railroad commission a complaint against seven express companies, the Wells-Fargo, United States, American, National, Adams, Northern and Western.

The association declares that the charges of these companies are grossly excessive, unreasonable, extortionate and in violation of law and that they retard the commercial and industrial development of the state and that they impose unjust and unlawful burdens upon the public.

A demand is made for the reduction of all rates to from 60 to 70 per cent of existing charges.

ANOTHER NEW SETTLER.

A new settler arrived in the town of Newbold last Saturday. He weighed ten pounds and was given a rousing welcome at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wubker, Jr. The little fellow intends to stay and grow up with the county.

The Ladies of the Swedish Aid Society will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Delbert Moe.

30 YEARS OF SUCCESS

J. J. Reardon Offers a Remedy for Catarrh. The Medicine Costs Nothing If It Fails

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Muc-Tone, a Medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Muc-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Muc-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Muc-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to dislodge and cleanse the entire mucous membranous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membranous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucous cells, and aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Muc-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Muc-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Rhineland only at our store, —The Rexall Store. J. J. Reardon, Rhineland, Wis.

A TRAVELING SALESMAN

H. F. Beers, 617-7th Ave., Peoria, Ill., writes: "I have been troubled for some time with kidney trouble, so severely at times I could scarcely carry my grips. After using one bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills I have been entirely relieved, and cheerfully recommend them to all." Foley's Kidney Pills are healing and antiseptic and will restore health and strength.

IN WESTERN PRISON

It is reported here that Andrew Wormington, who acted as a book-keeper for the lumber company at Hiles three years ago, has just been sentenced to serve eight years in state's prison in California for some crooked work which wrecked a bank in that state. He was a book-keeper in the bank, so it said. Wormington had a good many friends here and belonged to one of the fraternal orders in Crandon.—Crandon Republican.

AN IDEAL SUNDAY NEWSPAPER.

Recent issues of The Sunday Record-Herald remind one that Chicago may fairly lay claim to producing the best newspapers in the world, not excepting those of New York. The Sunday Record-Herald, in foreign news alone, has its own special cable service in addition to those of the New York Herald, World, Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. This is a fair example of the completeness of the paper in every department.

Aside from the regular news feature, there is something in The Sunday Record-Herald for every member of the family. The special articles by William E. Curtis and Walter W. Luman are always interesting. The sporting section offers four whole pages of fresh and authentic news in every line of sport. The woman's section is filled with illustrated articles on the latest wrinkles in fashion and domestic science, with Marion Harland and Mme. Qui Vire as regular contributors, and Dame Curtis's "Novelties in Entertainment" as a valued feature. The dramatic page, written by James O'Donnell Bennett, is admittedly without an equal in the West. The array of splendid special articles by skilled writers, finely illustrated, also is typical of the high literary quality of The Record-Herald. In the way of humor there is the comic colored supplement for children, besides Richard H. Little's laughable articles for adults and S. E. Kiser's delightful "Alternating Currents" for everybody.

But the thing that lifts The Sunday Record-Herald most emphatically above all its rivals is its magazine section. There is nothing else that can touch this in American journalism. The Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald is a real magazine full of stories and articles by the most famous writers of our day, illustrated by celebrated artists. In quality and beauty it compares favorably with the best monthlies. No wonder The Record-Herald is regarded as the ideal Sunday newspaper.

FEVER SORES

Fever sores and old chronic sores should not be healed entirely, but should be kept in healthy condition. This can be done by applying Chamberlain's Salve. This salve has no superior for this purpose. It is also most excellent for chapped hands, sore nipples, burns and diseases of the skin. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

The funeral of Jay Butolph was conducted Saturday afternoon from the family home on the east side. Rev. Ludwig of the M. E. church had charge of the services and was assisted by Rev. Bergstrom of the Baptist church.

Mr. Butolph's death occurred last Thursday morning following a short illness with jaundice. He was forty-nine years of age and is survived by a wife and family. He was a teamster by occupation. For his honest and upright principles, Mr. Butolph was respected by all who knew him and his death is much regretted. The deepest sympathy is extended to the sorrowful widow and children.

Came Near Choking to Death

A little boy, the son of Chris. D. Peterson, a well known resident of the village of Jacksonville, Iowa, had a sudden and violent attack of croup. Much thick stringy phlegm came up after giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Peterson says: "I think he would have choked to death had we not given him this remedy." For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Rhinelanders People to Neglect. The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect the kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

Christopher Forsythe, Country Road, Eagle River, Wis., says: "I suffered from a pain in my back for months and my kidneys were sore. The secretions from these organs were also highly colored. I felt weak and little like doing anything. I was finally advised by friends to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply. Since using two or three boxes I have been free from pain and have had no trouble from my kidneys, in fact, have felt stronger and better in every way. I give this valuable remedy the entire credit for the change in my condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NATIONAL FOREST LANDS

"An impression that the National Forests contain large areas of agricultural land to the exclusion of settlement and large areas of untimbered grazing land unjustifiably brought within the National Forest boundaries for the sake of grazing has gained wide currency," says Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson in his annual report just made to the President.

"To satisfy myself on the ground as to the facts, I made personal investigation of these matters during the past summer in the states of Idaho and Wyoming. Presumably the time will come when some portions of the present Forests can with benefit to the community be converted into farms. Through dry farming, plant breeding, and the introduction of new forms of useful and drought-enduring vegetation, agriculture is steadily gaining upon the desert, and may be expected to gain on the forest in semiarid regions. Growth in population also will bring an increasing demand for farm land. But it will also bring an increasing demand for timber and water conservation. The present is not the time to decide where the line should finally be drawn."

Simple Remedy for LaGrippe

LaGrippe coughs are dangerous, as they frequently develop into pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs so that no serious results need be feared. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. J. J. Reardon.

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years.

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

The Director's Report

The "Green Anchor Line" colossus, Sirocco, homeward bound from New York, was feeling her way in the thick fog like a blind man without a guide.
On the bridge the captain and chief officer compared anxious notes; forward the men discharged profanity and tobacco juice with equal fluency, and kept on the qui vive. They knew they were not a hundred miles from the celebrated "Barnacles"—a cruel reef, cemetery of many a stout ship.
The engine room was aware of the fact also, and bade no more rejoice.
In the saloons, however, all went merry as the marriage bell. The first class gentlemen passengers had got to the coffee and cigars stage of an excellent dinner, and conversed with themselves with the fine, full-blooded confidence of men who had done themselves well.
Mr. Septimus Q. Browbetter, millionaire, shipowner, and director of the "Green Anchor Line," sprawling in a big leather chair, chewed the end of his Havana contentedly. The world went very well with him. He was strong and florid and healthy, with a pulse as regular as quarter day, sir, and a digestion like a sausage-machine.
A little, quiet man had just asked
Mr. Browbetter what was the secret of his success in life. Here was a theme which the millionaire loved. It lent itself to post-prandial eloquence.
He settled the bulk of his double chin
in his capacious collar, took a long puff at his cigar and a sip at his green Chartreuse, and replied, in a loud masterful voice:
"Resolution, sir—Iron will and resolution. That's the recipe. A determination never to let things stand in my way. I always settled the line I would take, and I always settled anybody who impeded my progress.
They'd got to go, sir, every time.
Push-bustle-scrimmage, sir. Shoulder
'em out of the way. That's my advice to a young man starting in life. Make up your mind, go for the goal and stamp on opposition. There's your chart for success in a nut's shell, sir!"
At that moment Mr. Browbetter and the rest of the people on the Sirocco felt a terrific shock. There was a series of nerve-racking thuds and bumps, a horrible crackling, grating noise, a splintering and a crashing and a loud cry of "The ship's struck!"
The Sirocco was on the dreaded
"Barnacles."
Stewards ran about warning passengers to get on deck with all speed.
The well-trained, disciplined crew were mustered and took their allotted stations. The boats were got ready and lowered, and coolly and calmly
the captain shouted his orders to his lieutenants, who as coolly and calmly saw them carried out.
The ship's officers busied themselves forming the passengers into squad. The women and children, gathered in one pale, huddled group, calmed by the steady, calm demeanor of the stewardess. The men, however, were more difficult to handle, and only the stern determination of the officers prevented a number of them from rushing the boats.
Mr. Septimus Q. Browbetter was one of the ringleaders. His ruddy face had grown ghastly with terror,
and in his panic he was gesticulating and dashing along the deck like a madman.
Suddenly the vessel's bows parted and went down, and a shower of spume and spray broke over the company gathered in the waist and stern.
It was more than Mr. Browbetter could stand. He made a rush toward the boats, but was immediately brought up and checked.
"Do you know who I am?" he bel-lowed. "I'm a director of the Green Anchor line, and, by Gravy, I'm not going to be drowned like a rat in a trap for all the captains that ever sporting gold braid."
"Mr. Browbetter," replied the captain, steadily, "you may be a director on shore, but I'm director here. I've 400 lives to save—yours among them—and I can save all. There are boats enough. But you can't go yet. Women and children first. Go back to your squad, sir, or by the living God
I'll shoot you!"
The vessel began rapidly to settle.
Masts and funnels went by the board.
The effect on the millionaire was electrical.
"D— you!" he shrieked. "Stand aside. I will get into a boat. To h—with your order and discipline!"
He made a bull-like rush forward.
The captain's pistol cracked and the man of wealth fell fainting to the deck with a groan. His right arm was shattered.
"What was that?" called the ship's surgeon, rushing forward from the spot where he had been attending a couple of seamen wounded by the falling spar.
"That," quoth the captain, "was the director's report, I guess. Let this wounded skunk be dumped into the next boat with the first men's batch.
He's a dirty coward, and doesn't deserve to be saved, but I reckon we can't leave him. Hurry up, my lads; we're cutting 'it fine; but we shall just do the trick!"
Output of Alaskan Minerals.
The value of the total output of minerals in Alaska since 1880, when mining first began, is given at $145,
000,000, of which gold composed $142,
000,000; copper, $4,100,000; silver, $1,500,000; the balance representing the value of the marble, gypsum, tin and coal products.

The Least of
All the Gods

"Talking of love—" said Chester.
"I wasn't," Miss Van Duren cut in hastily.
"I'm aware of it," Chester sighed.
"You weren't talking of it, but you were looking at the third ugliest statue to the right with an expression which would have suggested it to anyone who wasn't a stock or a stone.
I'm not usually considered either myself," he added thoughtfully.
"What were you going to say about love?" Miss Van Duren asked in a modified tone.
"The third ugliest statue to the right," said Chester, gazing dreamily at the white line of figures against the thick-box hedge, "is a statue of Cupid."
"It isn't so very ugly," said Miss Van Duren critically, "at a distance."
"That's the only way I've ever seen it," Chester asserted—"at least, until quite recently."
She tapped the marble on the balustrade with her fan, and studied the distant Cupid with faintly amused eyes.
"You must be dreadfully poor," she said at last.
"Oh—we're all on our last legs," Chester admitted, with gloomy triumph. "You mightn't think it to look at us, but we are. At present we're just managing to keep up appearances, but that's all."
The lift of a waltz came softly from the windows of the great ball room,
and Miss Van Duren laughed.
"Talking of—" Chester recommenced suddenly.
"Good gracious!" Miss Van Duren cried. "Can't you talk of something else?"
"Not when I'm with you," said Chester, with meaning.
Miss Van Duren assumed a pretty
air of resignation.
"Then do go on, and get it over.
Talking of love—" she said.
"I was about to remark, when you interrupted me," Chester said severely,
"that the ancients conceived of love as the least of all the gods."
Miss Van Duren's eyebrows rose.
"Oh, but why?"
"You'd better look at the size of the statue," Chester told her.
She looked. Apparently the sight amused her.
"It's rather a nice size, I think," she declared.
"They must also have imagined him," said Chester, "as the poorest of the gods."
"Dear me! Why?" queried Miss
Van Duren.
"Look at his clothes," said Chester grimly.
"I can't," protested Miss Van Duren
—with truth. "But he has quite an expensive-looking bow and quiver," she added. "And besides—gods didn't go in much for clothes."
"Good reason why," said Chester.
"You couldn't expect even a first-class god to feel like the real thing with a tailor's bill on his conscience, could you?"
"It's clearly your duty to your family to set aside your own personal feelings—" "That's what I said," put in Chester.
"And marry her," concluded Miss Van Duren remorselessly.
"But, in order to marry her," Chester pointed out, "I shall have to propose to her—you'll admit that, I suppose?"
"It's certainly usual," Miss Van Du-ren admitted, with the ghost of a smile.
"And," said Chester, "I shall run the risk of being considered a fortune-hunter."
"By whom?" said Miss Van Duren
sharply.
"The—the heiress," Chester suggested.
"If she's the most beautiful person on earth, as you said just now," Miss Van Duren remarked, "it's barely possible that she might be induced to imagine that she isn't absolutely repulsive to you. In short, you might persuade her to believe that you were in love with her."
"I should have to do something more difficult than that," Chester returned. "I should have to persuade her to believe that she was in love with me."
Miss Van Duren slowly furled and unfurled her fan.
"I've heard it said," she ventured,
"that a woman will believe anything she's told—when the right man tells it to her."
"You're a mine of wisdom and a fountain of truth," Chester told her with enthusiasm. "Perhaps you could let me know another thing."
"Anything I can, I'm sure," murmured Miss Van Duren politely.
"Perhaps you could give me the ghost of a hint as to—to the right man?"
Miss Van Duren examined her fan
with sudden interest.
"Oh, the right man—well, I've heard he's by way of being a very humble-minded person," she said. "He's afraid of being considered a fortune-hunter, and I have it on his own authority that he's—"
"Yes?" queried Chester.
Miss Van Duren shut her fan and pointed, with a smile, to the statue of Cupid.
"If you're particularly anxious, to identify him," she said, "I'll tell you one thing more against him. Talking of love—" "I'm not allowed—" "Talking of love," concluded Miss Van Duren sternly, "he considers love
—the least of all the gods."

Timmins' Thoughtfulness
By F. C. K.

Timmins had finished his soup, and looked around from behind his evening paper, that he had propped up against the sugar bowl to see if the good wife had prepared anything out of the ordinary for the next course.
Mrs. Timmins was looking at him
curiously.
After seeing that queer look of hers, Timmins didn't need a blue print to know that something was up. His conscience was as clear as the atmosphere at a summer resort on a bright June day, and yet he knew that he must be about to get his.
"You look worried about something," he ventured. "What's the diddle?"
"Nothing! Nothing at all!" she declared in a tone that confirmed his suspicion that there was something up.
They ate along in silence for a few moments, Timmins with a conscience
as easy as the Pythagorean theorem, and yet knowing that something might drop with a sharp report like the crack of doom at any moment.
He tried to crank up and get the conversation started along some line that would brighten things up.
"I started to get tickets for the theater for next Wednesday night," he said, by way of trying to get a spark,
"but I thought I'd wait until I saw
you."
"Do you know what day this is?"
put in Mrs. Timmins, sharply, also irrelevantly.
Still Timmins wasn't on. He thought a moment, wondering what the catch was. "Let's see," he says. "It's Monday, of course, but then I don't s'pose that's what you mean. Well, I'll bite.
What's the answer?"
Mrs. Timmins shook her head and dejectedly muttered something about
"and after only four years."
But her remark was enough to bring Timmins in out of the fog.
"Huh!" he laughed, with an attempt at mirth. "I guess I pretty near made you believe I'd forgot about it, eh? I oughtn't to joke with you that way."
He was laughing little grunts of laughs as he went on. "But don't you worry, old girl," he said, "about little Willie forgetting. It was too big a day to be forgotten in any hurry."
"I don't believe you remembered it at all," came back Mrs. Timmins, although her tone showed that she was loosening up a wee teeny bit. "I'll venture to say that you would never have mentioned it if I hadn't brought the subject up."
"I wouldn't, eh? Oh, no! I suppose not! I haven't been talking about it down at the office to the boys, or anything. I've got a little Copley print of myself letting the day pass without saying anything about it. Just because I decided to keep quiet this evening until after dinner was over and see if you remembered, you take it for granted that the date didn't mean anything to me more than Arbor day."
Mrs. Timmins still looked some unconvinced, and Timmins added this one: "What d'ye do with your—with that package I sent out this afternoon? Give it away? Huh! Didn't get any package! Well, that's a nice deal! And I told 'em to be prompt.
Well, I'll run up to the drug store and call up and see what's caused the delay. Oh, never mind what it is. You'll find out."
He went to the door leisurely, but as soon as he was out of the hallway up to their flat he broke into a wild lope. Just about a hundred seconds later he had a jeweler friend of his
on the 'phone—at the Jeweler's club, because the stores were all closed.
"You'll have to rush out a circle of pearls right away. All in the safe!
Then you'll have to open the safe. No,
I can't wait until morning. I can't wait an hour? Huh! How do you know what I want? You'll have to use your own judgment. You'll send 'em out inside of an hour, will you? All right. Now hustle."
"They sent that package to the wrong address," Timmins announced to his wife when he got back to the flat, but it'll be out in a little while.
No, I won't tell you what it is. Hum?
Why, of course, I forgive you."
The next day when he went in to pay for the pearl pin, he found that he owed the man $12. He would have spent about $15 if he had gone in a day or two before and bought something. But then he didn't complain, for sometimes it's worth $12 to a man
to square himself.
A Georgia Genius.
Clark Howell of Atlanta tells a good story about a former janitor of the Atlanta Constitution office, who lost his place through overindulgence in liquor, and who afterwards secured a position as an assistant in an automobile garage in that city.
"He had been working around the garage as a handy man for about six months," said Mr. Howell, "and happening to meet him on the street one day I asked him how he was getting along in the automobile business."
"Fine," said he.
"I suppose you know everything about an automobile now, Tom?" I said to him.
"Yes, sir, Mr. Howell, I know a lot about dem cars, for I've been working under dem, and over dem, and all around dem ever since I left the Constitution office. But dere is just one thing about dem automobiles dat puzzles me," said Tom.
"What's that?" I asked.
"Well, sir, Mr. Howell, I can't get it into my head how they make 'em go without hitching a horse to 'em."
